WORK EXPERIENCE | SKILLS

My experience in graphic design includes work from both ends of a creative/production spectrum: On one end, my advertising experience has taught me to think creatively, conceptualize, sketch, photograph (including supervision of photoshoot production), scan, design and, on occasion, write copy as well. I've also worked for the production side of the spectrum, including a newspaper company, printshop and one locally-owned copy store. From both ends, I've gained a broad range of skills and experience, making versatility my strongest attribute.

Projects included logo design, brochures, flyers, direct mail inserts, newspaper/magazine ads, newsletters, annual reports, television/online visuals, and creative identity campaigns. The supervision of electronic prepress production, including color separations—spot and process—color corrections, and imposition layouts was also routinely required.
